Unified Military Affairs Council

The mission of the Unified Military Affairs Council is to highlight the importance of the military presence in the Capital Region and Tech Valley. Its number one goal is to ensure the long term viability and success of Stratton Air National Guard Base and the Navy Operation Support Center in Glenville, N.Y., as well as other military units in the Capital Region which have a profound effect on our local economy.

UMAC strives to facilitate a symbiotic partnership between the community and military by increasing public knowledge of the contributions made by local military units in the Capital Region, all of which impact our global, national, state, and regional economy. UMAC highlights positive partnerships that the military has already formed with State and Federal agencies so all parties understand the vital role our Capital Region military units play in securing our nation.

UMAC also brings attention to the wide community support and pride for our local military units, as well as their significant local volunteer contributions, such as:

- Mentorship Program at Yates Elementary School
- Educational Partnership with Proctors
- Schenectady Holiday Parade Marshals
- Schenectady Inner City Ministries Summer Lunch Program
- Salvation Army Holiday Food Basket Delivery
- Naval Sea Cadet Corps
- Capital District Construction Career Days
- American Red Cross Blood Drives
- Greater Capital Region Science and Engineering Fair
- Caps for Kids Program

MSGT Michael A. Sturgess – MARINE CORPS

MSGT Michael Sturgess, from the moment he stepped onto the yellow footprints in July 1984, MSGT Michael A. Sturgess' Marine Corps career was defined by rapid growth and high-impact leadership. After proving his technical grit in the supply field at Camp Lejeune and Camp Smith he took on one of the toughest mantles in the Corps: the Campaign Cover. As a Drill Instructor for Fox Company and a Senior Drill Instructor for Golf Company at MCRD San Diego, MSGT Sturgess personally guided the transformation of over 700 recruits into United States Marines. His legacy isn't just in the medals he earned, like the Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal, but in the generation of leaders he molded on the drill field. After 22 years of dedicated service in supply leadership and as a Substance Abuse Counseling Officer, MSGT Sturgess' mission hasn't changed. Even today, he continues to embody the ethos and stand by his brothers-in-arms as part of the Marine Corps League, proving that 'Once a Marine, Always a Marine' isn't just a motto—it's how he lives his life. Semper Fi, MSGT Sturgess!

A2C Fred Whelan – NAVY

A2C Fred Whelan was born and raised in Rotterdam, NY. He graduated from Mohonasen in May of 1961, and enlisted in September of the same year, alongside two close high school friends. He began his Navy journey in boot camp at Great Lakes in Illinois. After a few months, he boarded the USS Edisto AGB-2 in 1961 and concluded his service in 1965 after voyage on the USS Tanner AGS-15. He served as an aviation electronics technician on non-aviation ships as a detachment for 4.5 years after schooling through the Navy. During Fred's time in the Navy, he got to travel to various parts of the world as part of his active service, including Iceland, Greenland, Norway, Spain, Italy, Greece, Chile, and Antarctica. It was in Antarctica while working on Operation Deep Freeze 65 that he was bitten by a penguin on his face after attempting to take a photo with it. Along with numerous helicopter flights and walking among the penguins, one of his other favorite memories of the Navy was when he and the crew crossed over and were able to see where the Atlantic Ocean and Pacific Ocean meet. After serving, he eventually operated his own company that sold and serviced x-ray machines. With his background in helicopter technology, he later learned about x-ray machine technology and often serviced the x-ray machines himself. His wife, two daughters, sons-in-laws, and four grandchildren are so very proud of everything that he's accomplished, and love hearing all of his Navy stories and memories!
